Welcome

Maastricht, the Netherlands

Maastricht, a lively Romanesque city with an international character and edgy touch, is located in the heart of Europe with Germany and Belgium just a few kilometers away. The European Union as we know it today was formally established in Maastricht (Maastricht Treaty 1991/1992). The city center is a national heritage site. Stroll past monumental houses and churches, city walls, charming alleys, and intimate squares and enjoy a drink at one of the many outdoor cafés. In addition to all of the charming, romantic spots, you can stay in boutique design hotels, shop at high-end stores, and eat at critically acclaimed restaurants. And with everything within a short walking distance, you'll quickly feel at home and have enough time to meet up with colleagues and enjoy social events in the evening.

Benelux

Benelux is an economic union comprising three neighbouring monarchies: Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg. It was a precursor of the European Union. The region is more traditionally known in English as the Low Countries because they are all part of a plain near the North Sea, and parts of the Netherlands are so low as to actually be below sea-level, requiring dykes to keep the sea water out. They have shared a similar tragic modern history of invasion and occupation. This galvanized the countries to become major founders and joiners of international organisations in the post-war era in the hope of ending the threat of invasion. Nowadays, thanks to their reputation as honest brokers and their "neutral location" between France and Germany, these countries are the home to numerous international institutions, almost like a giant "capital district" for all of Europe, such as the international court in the Hague or the EU headquarters shared between Brussels and Luxembourg City.

About Euro-CNS and the Congress

European Confederation of Neuropathological Societies (Euro-CNS)

Euro-CNS was established in 1994 and consists of the neuropathology societies of Austria, the Baltics, Belgium, United Kingdom, Bulgaria, the Netherlands, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Scandinavia, Slovenia, Spain, Switzerland and Turkey. The mission of Euro-CNS is to improve the quality of care of patients with neurological disease through establishment of high standards of neuropathology practice. Members have a mutual interest in establishing and maintaining harmonisation of the practice and training in Neuropathology throughout Europe and beyond. Collaboration between European Neuropathologists is strongly encouraged and supported. Euro-CNS promotes the interest in the discipline and the exchange of scientific information between members through its official journal 'Clinical Neuropathology' and the organisation of regular meetings, CME courses and congresses. In addition, Euro-CNS organizes the European Examination in Neuropathology each year and has close partnerships with societies in related disciplines (pathology, neurology, neuroscience).

European Congresses of Neuropathology (ECNP)

The European Congress of Neuropathology is organized every 4 years as a platform for its members and any others interested in the specialty to exchange knowledge and experiences. The program will deliver key updates and stimulate debate on recent progress in diagnostic practice and neuroscience relevant to neuropathology. The scientific program of the ECNP2025 features a broad scientific program with state-of-the-art plenary lectures, parallel symposia and workshops that showcase recent findings and topics across all major fields of diagnostic and experimental neuropathology with a focus on neuro-oncology, neurodegeneration, developmental neuropathology, muscle & nerve and neuro-inflammation. Abstract authors will be invited to present their work in several symposia, workshops or in the free communication sessions. A few novel fields shall be added to the program as a surprise.
